Human nature may be the safest guide sent and spoke to the children. to follow after all. Mankind has spent a good deal of time in making laws against what the Nature God has put into man with penalties ranging from penny fine up to the electric chair, and never intended they should have clean the world. Mothers and schoolmarms and even doctors have fought against this seemingly natural law with persial ency and failure. Now two eminer Irish medical men have come out and taken the boys' and Nature's part. They say dirt is the natural condition of a boy, and Nature's way of covering over the skin so bacteria cannot find a lodgment. Hurrah for the boys and the Irish doctors! Nature puts an antidote March 10. in the field for all things however. P. Gile, has put this scientific fact into mond. popular language and it is given below

I've struggled with him many years To make him wash his hands; To clear his teeth and nails and ears Have been hard-worked commands. And though I've labored long and much, It's just of late I've seen That mothers lack the magic touch To make a boy wash clean.

These days he lives before the glass, His neckiles lead the fad, His polished teeth would safely pass For some one's dental ad. His bair is aleek, his nail tips shine, He takes my heart by storm; All told, that careless boy of mine Is quite the mold of form. Somehow the fingers of dull pain Around my heart-airings curl; He'll never be all mine again— My boy has got a girl!

Texas lays claim to the smallest baby ever born. It was a baby girl born to Worth weighing only three-quarters of pound. She is healthy and promises to live. Her first meal in this world consisted of forty-five drops of water and twenty-five drops of milk.

The Democratic Platform. The one thing which the Democratic state convention held in Lewiston Wed nesday seems to have settled definitely is that as was expected William R. Pat tangall of Augusta will be the Demo cratic candidate for governor in the com ing election. Conventions under the present system are not held for the selection of caudidates, but sometimes they furnish a pretty good forecast in that

Fulton J. Redman of Ellaworth, who was chairman and delivered the "key note speech," declaring that Maine retrograding under Republican rule. Senator T. H. Caraway of Arkansas was the principal speaker of the afternoon

The formulation of a platform is nominally at least the most important item in the business of a state convention At the platform meeting of Tuesday platform is really made, rather than or the floor of the convention—there was large attendance, very positive opinion and some divergence of view. The result is compromises, and a platform however and therefore barmless. Indeed, if comparisons are not too odious, N. H., Wednesday. it may be said that it is as harmless as the Republican platform of 1922, and

An attempt to have in the platform plank favoring the repeal of the pro-hibitory law was promptly squelched, the women being especially emphatic against it, so there is no reference to probibition in the document, but a gen eral declaration in favor of enforcemen

There had been a rumor that the plat form would contain an anti-Klan plank in plain terms, mentioning the Ku Klux Klan by name, and so it would if some of the delegates could have bad their way, but there was difference of opinion and the resultant was this:

(6) We stand for government of, by and for he scople, participated in by every citizen and deministered for the benefit of all and denounce victous and dangerous any and all attempts to substitute therefor, government by oath-bound secret fraternities.
We stand for religious liberty and freedom of conscience and for entire separation of church and state. We declare that all men have a natural and inalienable right to worship God according to the dictates of their own con-sciences and that there should be no subordina-tion for preference of any one sect or denomina-tion to another nor any discrimination in the aelection of public servants between native born and naturalized citizens or between citizens of different religious bellefs or racial origin.

Two years ago the Democratic convention demanded the repeal of the direct primary law, but the only thing in this year's platform that could even remotely apply to this subject is the fol-lowing: (4) We stand for the maintenance of repre-sentative government and for the pre-cryation of the principle of local self-government.

There is not room in our limited space to reproduce the platform in full. Aside from what is given above, and the declaration that Maine has been standing atill for sixty years, it is mainly in gen-eral terms, and contains little that is controversial or that applies directly to
